QUITMAN HOLE DOWN 130 FEET

DRILLING IN TEST FOR OIL PROGRESSES STEADILY.

NO COAL VEIN FOUND

Some Observers Are Disappointed When Cap Rock Is Passed, But Driller Says It's Good Sign

Plugging steadily away, the Quitman oil drill was down 130 feet at noon today. It had passed through the layer of limestone known as cap rock, and no coal was found.

G. H. Rose, driller, keeps a daily log on which is recorded each of the strata through which the drill passes. It was at 66 feet that the cap rock was encountered. Howard P. Manning, geologist for the project, had estimated that it would be found at 65 feet.

The drill first passed through six feet of soil, then through ten feet of yellow clay, followed by fifteen feet of gravel. At 31 feet it encountered the quick sand that delayed proceedings yesterday morning. The quick sand continued to the 46-foot level, after which there was ten feet more of yellow clay and ten feet of a blue clay. All these layers were classified by Manning as glacial drift.

Mostly Limestone and Shale.

Below the cap rock, which was struck last night, the log shows the following changes:

Cap rock (limestone), to 69-foot level.
Broken shale to 96 feet.
Gray limestone to 98 feet.
Blue shale to 100 feet.
Lime stone to 103 feet.
Blue shale to 130 feet.

At 130 feet the drill again was in limestone.

The strata passed through so far check with the state geological survey which designates them as the Howard limestone, the Severy shale and the Topeka limestone.

Many residents of the Quitman vicinity were sure that coal would be found. The driller differed with them, insisting that "coal and oil do not mix," and that "coal isn't found in an oil structure one time in a hundred." Still the believers in coal were not convinced and there were several who remained last night to see what the baler brought up after the cap rock had been passed through. There was not even a fragment of coal.

While some of the observers were disappointed that no coal was found, Driller Rose pointed out that its absence bore out his contention that the well had been located on a good oil and gas structeure and that the absence of coal made those prospects all the brighter.

Driller Typical Optimist.

Everyone connected with the drilling of an oil well is the eternal optimist, and none more so than the man who is drilling it, even though his interest is only in the drilling. Driller Rose is no exception to the rule. It may prove to be a dry hole, but:

"Yes, we're going to get oil," he predicts. "Anywhere below a thousand feet, we'll find it."

Rose bases his confidence not upon "book theory" but his years of experience, which includes the bringing in of an Oklahoma well flowing 15,000 barrels a day. His hand on the screw which regulates the giant bit which pounds ceaselessly downward he can tell the nature of the earth or rock through which it is passing by the "feel," the impact upon his hand and the sound which comes up out of the hole.

Every five feet, the drill is lifted, and the hole is baled out. Invariably the driller's guess at what has been gone through is confirmed.

The twelve-hour shifts which the drillers work are not twelve hours of lolling about, waiting for something to happen. One man keeps his hand on or near the screw as it is carried up and down, giving it a turn several times a minute. The other feeds coal in to the boiler, oils various bits of machinery and otherwise keeps things running smoothly. Then, at frequent intervals, comes "tool dressing."

Tool Dressing Arduous.

Tool dressing is the most arduous part of the drillers' work. The giant bit, weighing 1,400 pounds, is put into a forge and heated white hot. Then, with heavy sledges, they pound the glowing steel into the proper shape and temper it in a bath of cold water. The first tool dressing at the Quitman well is expected late this afternoon.

One of the most favorable signs encountered here, according to the driller, is the solid condition of the limestone. A crumbly, "rotten" limestone, he said, means a poor chance for oil.

Theatrical Producer Convicted of Perjury

Earl Carrol Found Guilty When He Declared No "Nude Bathtub Party" Was Staged At Theater.

New York, May 27.—Earl Carrol, theatrical producer, was found guilty by a jury today of perjuring himself when he testified that no girl plunged nude into a bathtub full of liquor during a Washington birthday party on the stage of his theater. The jury decided he did not commit perjury when he testified before the grand jury that no liquor was served.

SPRING TERM ENDED TODAY

SUMMER QUARTER AT COLLEGE BEGINS MONDAY.

TENNIS WITH PALMER

New Courts Near Gymnasium Will Soon Be Ready for Use.—No Estimate on Enrollment.

The spring quarter at the State Teachers College ended this afternoon. With it ended the school year. The College building will be empty until next Monday, when the deluge of students and teachers will swarm into Maryville for the summer session.

Final examinations at the College were held yesterday and today. Grades will be recorded over the week-end, and everything will be in readiness for the summer students Monday. Class work will start at 7:30 o'clock Tuesday morning.

The first extra-curriculum activity of the summer session will be an intercollegiate tennis match Monday afternoon between the College team and that of Palmer College, Albany. Seven men have been chosen to represent the local school. They are Pierpoint, Glenn, Ferguson, Cook, Goslee, Joy, and Smith.

The matches Monday will be played on the two courts near the administration building. The new courts, now under process of construction just east of the new gymnasium, will be ready for playing in a short time, according to H. Frank Lawrence, athletic director at the College. There will be four crushed-rock courts of regulation size. These courts have no surface drainage but are drained below the surface by a tile system. Eight inches of rock and bricks have been laid over a graded surface. Over this there are six inches of cinders. Rock dust will soon be placed on top of the cinders. This will be wetted and rolled, and then the courts will be in readiness.

A 15-foot fence will be erected around the courts which will not be open to the public.

The College plans a series of moving picture entertainments in connection with the other activities of the summer quarter.

Nothing is known of the probable enrollment at the College this summer. Indications are that it will be large, but it is not known approximately how many students will matriculate.

Indian Tourists Here on Way to Minnesota

Full-Blooded Sioux, Wife And Son Traveling In House-On-Wheels—Their Home At St. Louis.

A party of interesting tourists, which spent part of yesterday in Maryville, consisted of Red Eagle, a full-blooded Sioux Indian, Goldie Eagle, his wife, and Pawnee Eagle, their 3-year-old son. They were traveling deluxe in a house on wheels with Albert Lee, Minn., as their destination.

St. Louis is their home. Red Eagle is a Carlisle Indian School graduate, with a surprisingly good command of the English and an intelligent adoption of the White Man's customs evident in the business-like manner in which he conducts his affairs. The little boy was born in St. Joseph, and has the distinction of being the first Indian baby born in that city for many years.

Miss Bess Scott will come from St. Joseph to spend the week end and Decoration Day with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. D. N. Scott.

HAHN-RAMEY SUIT IS TRIED

200 BUSHELS OF BLUE GRASS INVOLVED IN COURT.

TWO SAY NOT GUILTY

Harold Crowdes and Clyde Campbell, Elmo, Are Arraigned.—Bert Reese Fined $1.

The replevin case of M. A. Hahn against William Ramey and Jesse Watt was on trial in Circuit Court today, with Judge Guy B. Park of Platte City as special judge. Judge Park came to Maryville last night to preside as special judge for Judge John M. Dawson and several cases are scheduled for trial during the next few days.

Hahn alleges Ramey and Watt are indebted to him for 200 bushels of blue grass seed produced and gathered from the farm of Jerry Vaughn. The value of the blue grass seed was figured at $3 per bushel. Hahn asks for the return of the blue grass seed or for $600, the value of the seed, and for $100 damages for wrongful detention of the seed, together with costs of suit.

The jury hearing the case is composed of Wiley Lankford, S. P. Curnutt, John Tulloch, John Todd, Ralph Wray, C. G. Swinford, Ed Malvern, W. E. Livengood, G. H. Patterson, B. T. Wray, C. H. Caldwell and J. F. Lager.

Two Cars, One License.

O. S. Lincoln of Pickering, charged with operating a motor vehicle without license plates was fined $5 by Judge Park when he entered a plea of guilty to the charge. Lincoln was running two cars on the same license plates.

Harold Crowdes and Clyde Campbell of Elmo were arraigned in Circuit Court today and entered a plea of not guilty to possession of intoxicating liquor. Bail was fixed at $500, which was given by Crowdes.

In the city liquor case against Bert Reese, appealed from police court, the city was given, by agreement, a judgment for $1. Reese's fine in police court was $250. In another city case in which Reese was a joint defendant with Quince A. Gilmore and George Hammond, the case was dismissed as to Reese at his cost. This also was by agreement.

The damage suits of Vollie Korell against the St. Joseph Railway, Light, Heat and Power Co., here on change of venue, was continued by agreement.

The suit on contract of W. A. Tindall against Florence Shullenberger also was continued by agreement.

Executive Board for Alumni Assn. Chosen

Former Students of State Teachers College to Assist Financially in Lighting of Campus.

C. T. Richards of Pattonsburg, Leslie G. Somerville of Maryville, and Miss Viola Barber of Mound City were selected as the executive committee of the State Teachers College Alumni Association at a meeting of the organization following the annual banquet at Residence Hall last night. Mr. Richards was elected for one year, Miss Barber for two years, and Mr. Somerville, for three years. Miss Minnie B. James of Maryville, a member of the College faculty, was named treasurer of the association.

A constitution was adopted at the meeting last night. The secretary of the association will be chosen later.

The alumni of the College voted to assist financially in the lighting of the College campus. This matter will be fully planned later.

John Tulloch Files for Committeeman

John F. Tulloch of Barnard filed today his candidacy as Democratic committeeman from Grant township subject to the action of the primary to be held in August. Mr. Tulloch has been committeeman from that township for the past two years.

Filing time for candidates for county offices will expire next Thursday.

Trenton Newspaper Plant Is Damaged

Trenton, Mo., May 27.—The printing plant of the Trenton Republican was damaged by fire late last night. The flames followed a bolt of lightning which struck the building.

Bobby Jones Victor Over British Golfer

American Defeats Robert Harris 8 Up And 6 To Go—Completely Outplayed His Opponent.

Muirfield, May 27.—Bobby Jones, amateur golf champion, won a glorious victory this afternoon over Robert Harris, the British title-holder. Jones, playing his youthful brilliant game, defeated the seasoned veteran Harris 8 up and 6 to go.

Pitted against Great Britain's champion in what was unofficially regarded as the world's amateur championship, Jones completely outplayed the middle-aged Anglo Scot.

Jones had Harris five down at the seventh and six down when they made the turn.

PIG SURVEY TO START JUNE 1

TO BE CONDUCTED BY VARIOUS POSTOFFICES.

SHEEP TO BE INCLUDED

Rural Carriers In Nodaway County To Distribute Cards Among Patrons Along Their Routes.

The semi-annual pig survey, conducted under the auspices of the various postoffices in Nodaway County, will start June 1.

The information is gathered throughout the country by the federal postoffice department in co-operation with the department of agriculture.

All rural carriers in the county will be supplied with cards to be distributed to the patrons along their routes. The cards will then be collected a few days later and mailed in to the federal department, not later than June 5. The information will then be compiled and made public.

In additions to questions on swine production, inquires are included relating to sheep.

These surveys, it is pointed out, have been of inestimable value to intelligent farmers in planning future production and in marketing current supplies. From the tabulation of the returns, it will be possible to determine the size of the pig and sheep production this year. Since sheep production is increasing in most areas, it is desirable that producers have such information as a basis for planning their current marketings and future breeding activities.

The cards will contain questions regarding the total number of acres of land in farm, total number of swine on farm over six months old and number under six months old, number of sows which farrowed during last six months, number of pigs saved, number of sows farrowed for first time and number of sows farrowed and pigs saved between December 1, 1924 and June 1, 1925.

Information will also be requested as to fall farrowing both for this and last year.

Regarding sheep, the survey will attempt to determine the number of ewes on January 1 of this year, lambs saved this year and lambs saved last year. It is also desired to secure information on the total number of sheep and lambs shorn on farms between January 1 and June 1 of this year and the total number of pounds of wool obtained.

General Rains Halt Threatened Violence

Irrigation Farmers In Western Nebraska Demand Water Be Turned Into Canals.—May Force Gates

Scotts Bluff, Neb. May 27.—A general rain over this section last night brought relief to the parched crops and thwarted immediate violence on the part of irrigation farmers who are aroused over the refusal of the federal government to turn water into the irrigation canals.

Business men here in touch with the situation declared today they believed the angered farmers would force open the head gates of the canals in another week unless federal reclamation commissioner Elwood Meade ordered the gates open.

Despite the fact that President Coolidge has signed the omnibus bill, information here indicated that Commissioner Meade has not ordered the gates opened according to an agreement local farmers said they made with him last winter.

Mr. and Mrs. L. B. Tracy of Marshall, Mo., arrived in Maryville today for a few days visit.

COUNTY TAXES ON OLD BASIS

COMMISSION SECRETARY MEETS ASSESSORS HERE.

REDUCTION IS ASKED

Farm Bureau Delegation Asks Assessment of $7 Loss On The Acre With Earnings As Basis.

The tax assessment of 1926 will be made upon practically the same basis as in 1925, it was announced after a meeting here today of township assessors with Roy A. McCoy, secretary of the State Tax Commission.

Farm lands, as well as other classes of property, will have the same basic values, despite representations by the Farm Bureau that farm land valuations are too high in comparison with some other classes of property.

The Nodaway County Farm Bureau was represented at the meeting today by Ernest Wray, its president and a member of the Missouri Farm Bureau's tax committee, and by G. T. Logan of Gaynor, T. H. Acklin, Graham, and Mr. McLaughlin, Guilford.

The Farm Bureau delegation asked a reduction in the average valuation of land in this county of $7 an acre. They pointed out specific instances where they held valuations to be too high.

The contention of the Farm Bureau is that farm land should be valued for taxes on the basis of its earnings, as are corporations. It will continue its fight before the State Tax Commission and the State Board of Equalization when the recommendations are made for the 1927 assessments.

The assessors who attended the meeting today were George H. Meek, Polk Township; George Greenelsh, Nodaway; R. C. Maurer, Hughes; A. L. Blagg, Grant; Henry M. Argo, Green; Fred Shell, Monroe; W. R. Millsaps, Jackson; and Leroy Nigh, Independence.

Is for Coolidge But Against World Court

Indianapolis, Ind., May 27.—While lauding Calvin Coolidge, the man, and Calvin Coolidge, the President, and expressing his firm belief in him and his plans in general, Senator James E. Watson of Indiana, speaking before the Republican state convention here today, repledged himself to fight always in office and out against American adherence to the world court.

Will Attend Meeting at Grain Valley, Mo.

J. Ross Fleetwood, county extension agent, and Alfred Crater of Ravenwood will go to Grain Valley, Mo., on Saturday, June 5, to attend a discussion on beef calf production and feeding. The meeting will be held at the Sni-A-Bar farm.

Miss Alma Nash Is Chosen Secretary

Miss Alma Nash of Kansas City, formerly of Maryville, was elected secretary and treasurer of the American Guild of Banjoists, Mandolinists and Guitarists at the closing meeting Wednesday at Kansas City of a four day's convention. The convention next year will be held in New York.

Murder Conspiracy Contended by Govt.

Number Of Witnesses Called In Effort To Build Circumstantial Evidence In Osage Mystery Deaths.

Pawhuska, Okla., May 27.—A gigantic murder conspiracy, having for its object the wholesale murders of Osage Indians for their head rights was the battle drawn by assistant attorney-general Dabney as the government called witnesses in rapid succession today attempting to build a wall of circumstantial evidence against Ernest Burkhart of Fairfax, on trial here for the alleged murder of W. E. Smith and his full-blooded Osage wife, Rita Smith.

The state charges that the deaths of Smith and his wife were caused by Burkhart and W. K. Hale, "king of the Osage hills," who is alleged to have placed dynamite under the Smith home.

MINERS SAFE AFTER BLAZE

50 MEN RESCUED AND FIRE NOW UNDER CONTROL.

EXPLOSION OCCURS

Flames Break Out In Bosses Shack In Mt. Lookout Mine At Wyoming, Pa.

Scranton, Pa., May 27.—All of the miners entombed by fire which followed an explosion in Mt. Lookout mine at Wyoming, Pa., were safe this morning, according to general manager Jennings of the Temple Coal Co.

More than fifty men were rescued and the fire is now under control, he said.

Wilkesbarre, Pa., May 27.—Eighty mine workers are reported trapped behind a fire which is raging in the Mt. Lookout mine of the Temple Coal Co., at Wyoming.

Five workers managed to fight their way through the flames. One of them is in a serious condition, but the others are expected to recover.

The fire broke out near the foot of the shaft. It started at the bosses' shanty and hospital, spreading with lightning speed.

Workers in the eleven-foot vein tried to extinguish the flames but the fire was raging beyond control.

Poland's Future Is Still More Doubtful

Socialists Demanding More Information On Government Without A Parliament Idea.

Warsaw, May 27.—Poland's future became even more doubtful today as the movement in opposition to granting the demands of Marshal Pilsudski for a year of government without parliament gains momentum.

The socialists, who have given their support to Marshal Pilsudski, are now beginning to demand more complete information on his program. Up to now, Pilsudski has not seen fit to give any definite outline of the program which he contemplates.

His supporters, however, have suggested a compromise to the socialists, stating that the marshal will be willing for only an eight-months regime without a parliament. Objections are being raised to this by the socialists.

New efforts are being made for a general election which might turn against Marshal Pilsudski.

Brookfield Defunct Bank Aided by Oil

$100,000 Reported Offered for Texas Land, Near Big Leases, Owned by Institution.

Brookfield, Mo., May 27.—The finding of oil in large quantities in the Texas Panhandle will result in the Linn County Bank, closed recently because of inability to realize on loans, to come nearer paying depositors in full.

The Brookfield Investment Co., of Brookfield was one of the heaviest borrowers from the bank and until recently it appeared that the company could not pay much, if any, of the $45,000 owed the bank.

Then came the striking of oil and now G. A. Greenlee, who is handling the closed bank's affairs, is reported to have received an offer of $100,000 for the Texas land, which is near one of the big leases.

WET AND DRY FIGHT AT PEAK

MANY ISSUES IN SENATE DEBATE ON QUESTION.

COMMITTEE IS NAMED

State Constitution Of California Furnishes Legal Obstacles To Order of Coolidge.

Washington, May 27.—A wet and dry war again drenched the Senate this afternoon when the wets' proposal for a national referendum, the League of Nations and President Coolidge's order as chief points of the attack.

Politics was injected when Senator Dill, Democrat of Washington, charged the president issued his order to divert the nation's attention from the series of defeats suffered by the administration in recent Senatorial primaries.

Dill also denounced the wets' proposal for a referendum as illegal.

The League of Nations was brought into the discussion by Senator Edge, Republican of New Jersey, the wets' spokesman, who demanded to know how the Democratic party pledged itself in 1924 to a referendum on entering the League "if a national referendum is illegal."

Washington, May 27.—The ultimate success of prohibition enforcement depends on the enactment of the Goff-Graham bill, which would block up loop-holes in the law, General Lincoln C. Andrews, prohibition enforcement chief, told the House judiciary committee today.

"This measure," said Andrews, "would give us greater control over breweries and alcohol and thus make the city people realize what prohibition really means."

Washington, May 27.—Five of the Senate's leading constitutional lawyers were named today as a court of inquiry by the judiciary committee to investigate the legality of President Coolidge's order offering federal prohibition jobs to an army of state officers.

The court will be composed of Senator Cummins, Republican of Iowa, chairman, Senator Borah, Republican of Idaho, Senator Goff, Republican of West Virginia, Senator Walsh, Democrat of Montana, and Senator King, Republican of Utah.

All save Walsh have publicly declared the President had no legal authority to issue the order.

Washington, May 27.—President Coolidge's name famous order offering federal police badges to state officers as an aid to prohibition enforcement may never come into effect, it was indicted on Capitol Hill today, because of legal obstacles in the state constitution of California where the government planned its initial trial.

While the Senate judiciary committee planned to launch a formal investigation into the lagality of the order, word spread through Congress that the California state constitution would prevent any local officer from accepting employment at the hands of the government. It was said that the question would be tested immediately in court if any state officer accepts a federal dry badge.

Nevertheless, the Senate's inquiry will be carried to a conclusion because Congress feels that the order has set a dangerous precedent, which must be set aside.

Predicts End of Riffian Uprisings

Painleve Tells French Cabinet What Surrender Of Abd-el-Krim Means To Morrocan Situation.

Paris, May 27.—"Abd-el-Krim's surrender marks the end of the Riffian resistance and uprising in Morroco," Minister of War Painleve told the cabinet today. By a unanimous vote, the cabinet paid homage to the soldiers of both the French and Spanish armies, and also to the co-ordination between the French and Spanish governments.

Weather

Mostly cloudy tonight and Friday, probably showers; not much change in temperature.

Farmers Telephone Co. at Bethany Sold

Middle States Utilities Co., Takes Over Five Exchanges In Harrison County.

The Farmers Telephone Company which has headquarters at Bethany and operates exchanges at Ridgeway, Gilman City, Brimson and Edinburg, was sold last week to the Middle States Utilities Company of Missouri. This week's Bethany Clipper says:

W. J. Brownell, an Omaha promoter, who took an option on the company the latter part of February, was in Bethany Thursday, the last day of his option, to close the sale. With him were E. J. Kastner, Indianapolis, an accountant; C. E. Richman, Cedar Rapids, Iowa, an attorney representing Brownell; R. R. Wilcox of Leon, a division manager of the company, and George A. Neeves of Chicago, attorney representing a bonding company.

Plan To Invest Millions.

The local exchanges now will become a part of a vast telephone system being built by the Middle States company in northern Missouri and southern Iowa, covering the entire territory between the Missouri and Mississippi rivers. Fifty stations already are under their control, involving a total investment of approximately $1,000,000. The promoters want to make an investment of $2,000,000 additional in Missouri alone, Mr. Brownell said when here.

The Middle States Utilities Company of Missouri has control of the Missouri exchanges alone. The same owners also have the Middle States Utilities Company of Iowa, which operates the Iowa plants, and the Utilities Holding Corporation, chartered in Maryland.

John A. Reed of Cedar Rapids, Iowa, a brother of Senator James A. Reed of Missouri, is president of the company. The Kansas City senator and his law firm are attorneys for the company. The home office is in Cedar Rapids at present. It was said the headquarters of the Missouri firm might be moved to Missouri later.

Orton Interests Sold.

Most of the telephone exchanges in this vicinity, including towns in Missouri and Iowa, already are a part of the Middle States system. The Orton interests, which owned fourteen exchanges, located at Princeton, Cainsville, Mt. Moriah, Modena, Mill Grove, Goshen, Saline and Mercer, Mo., Leon, Lineville, Garden Grove, Clio, Leroy and Weldon, Iowa, were bought three weeks ago by the company. The week before last the sale of the Lamoni Telephone Company also was completed. The Lemoni Company also operates the Blythedale exchange in this county.

Quincy Newspapers to Be Consolidated

Quincy, Ill., May 27.—Quincy's two newspapers, the Herald and the Whig-Journal, are to be consolidated and published as one newspaper beginning the first of June. While not yet officially announced, this action appears to be certain, according to reports.

It is understood that the paper bearing a combination of the two names, will be published from the present Herald plant, by a new company known as the Quincy Newspapers, Inc. Charles F. Eichenauer, at present editor-in-chief of The Herald, will hold a similar position with the consolidated newspaper; Ray M. Oakley, now business manager of the Herald, will be manager, and A. O. Lindsey, Whig-Journal's business manager, will become director of sales in charge of advertising, according to information regarding the merger.

It will be an afternoon newspaper, according to reports, and will follow largely the policies of the Herald with many of the Whig-Journal's features retained. This will leave only one daily newspaper in Quincy.

Scientists to Finish Village Excavation

Washington, May 27.—Pueblo Bonito will get its last housecleaning this month. Dr. Neil M. Judd, leader of the National Geographical Society expedition to this ancient Indian apartment house in New Mexico, is leaving here shortly to complete the six year job of excavating the pueblo.

Thirty Indian workers, probable descendants of the builders of the prehistoric pueblo, will aid in clearing away the last of the debris that has obscured the communal house for centuries. Dr. Judd will be accompanied by eleven other scientists, who will attempt to define the race and age of the founders of the pueblo.

Visitors will be allowed to visit the pueblo this summer. It is part of the Chaco Canyon National monument and should attract thousands. Dr. Judd believes Pueblo Bonito was probably the most important Indian city of the southwest in pre-Columbian days and its 800 room apartment a veritable storehouse of Indian lore.

Misnaming Nations Becomes Habit; Do You Know Misr, Iran and Flstin?

Washington.—What's in a name?

Apparently little, says the National Geographic Society, for "misnaming nations is one of our estabished habits."

For instance, America does not recognize Russia. Neither does Russia recognize "Russia."

The Post Office Department warns that in communicating with Russia the letters should be addressed to the Union of Socialistic Soviet Republic. In order to acquaint the world with the new name, the Soviet Government frequently carries out its threat to return all mail addressed to "Russia."

"The world habit of misnaming nations can be excused," the National Geographic declares. "Some nations cannot agree on their own names so the world must fix on some form.

Miss Your Swiss.

"One of the discoveries of Americans touring Europe is that Switzerland is not Switzerland. If you are in a north or German Switzerland it is Schweiz, south or Italian Switzerland, it is Svizzera, west or French Switzerland, Suisse.

"Frequently names perpetuate the opinion one tribe had of another in the days of barbarism. The official name of Germany today is Deutsches Reich. They call themselves Deutsch. The French call them Allemandes, literally, foreigners. Slavs call them 'Niemiec,' which mean 'dumb men.' They were 'dumb men' to the Slavs since they could not speak the Slav language.

"Slavs call themselves the Slowjane, 'the intelligent people,' but all Germans call them the Wends, that is, 'the strangers.'

"Brazil is now officially Brasil. But before that 'z' became an 's' many paper and ink battle were fought in Brazil. American practice still uses the 'z.'

Nippon An Absurdity.

"In the Japanese name for their kingdom, Nippen, a geographic absurdity has been corrected by a modern geographic decision. 'Ni' means sun and 'pon' rising. Japan is the country of the rising sun. To whom could it be the country over which the sun rose? Not to Japanese certainly! Obviously it is a Chinese name because the island lay where the Chinese saw the sun rise. But within the last century the International Date Line was marked down the center of the Pacific Ocean. It establishes where the day begins according to earthly agreement. Therefore, Japan is the first territory touched by the rising sun of a new day.

"Consider our nation's name, 'the United States of America.' Americans proudly proclaim that that title does not stand for a nation which is an empire gathering vast territories to itself by conquest.

The United States.

"Yet the present use of 'the United States of America' is one of the most remarkable and bare faced conquests on record in the world of nomenclature. An American is recognized now as a native of the United States, but there are 75,000,000 people in Canada, Central America, Mexico, and South America, who have just as much right to the name as the 125,000,000 citizens of the United States. There are two other 'the United States,' Venezuela and Brazil."

Following are the real names which well-know nations call themselves and the accepted English names:

Misr—Egypt.
Festi Wabariik—Esthonia.
Soumen Tasavalta—Finland.
Afrikiya—Tunisia.
Iran—Persia.
Die Republik Osterreich—Austria.
El Maghreb—Morocco.
Lietuva—Lithunia.
Flstin—Palestine.

Away for Summer.

Mr. and Mrs. J. E. James will leave the first of next week to visit their son, Harold James, and family, at Omaha, en route to points in Nebraska, Colorado and Wyoming where they will spend the summer. The James home at 203 East Park avenue has been leased for three months to J. O. Miller, manager of the Maryville Lumber Company.

Jesse Douglas Family Here

Mr. and Mrs. Jesse Douglas and son, Jesse, jr., of Los Angeles, Cal., arrived in Maryville Saturday for a several weeks visit with Mrs. Douglas' mother, Mrs. Rebecca Gray, and Mr. Douglas' sister, Mrs. C. D. Bellows, and other relatives. The visitors motored through.

Leave For California.

Miss Ora Mae Condon and Miss Winifred Baker will leave tonight to spend the summer at points in California. The former will visit her mother, Mrs. B. E. Condon, at Los Angeles and relatives at other points while Miss Baker will spend several months with her father, W. C. Baker, at Sacramento.

Today Japan Honors Admiral Heihachiro Togo, Its Greatest of Heroes of the Sea

Tokyo, May 27.—All Japan today paid solemn reverence to a squat, bronzed little sailor who lives quietly in a simple house in the outskirts of Tokyo. The man is Count Heihachiro Togo, Admiral of the fleet, and the greatest naval hero of Japanese history.

Twenty-one years ago today, May 27, 1905, Togo, pacing the deck of his flagship in the angry waters of the Japan Sea flashed a famous order to his squadron:

"The rise or fall of the Japanese Empire depends on this battle. In the name of the Emperor I exort you all to do your best."

The result of the battle is history. Togo's ships steamed out against a bigger squadron of Russian vessels and wiped it out of existence as a fighting unit. Togo was the hero of Japan—a squat, quiet, little sailor who is described as always rather embarrassed when the history of the famous battle is recalled.

Japanese throughout the Empire are paying him tribute today, for his great victory definitely established Japan's sea power and assured the brilliant victory her land forces won over the Russians on the plains of Manchuria.

Togo was born of fighting stock, the son of a petty retainer of the Lord of Kagoshima. His boyhood had much to do with the sea and at 16 he began definitely his career as a sailor. Steeped in the teachings of the Samurai—the old knights of Japan—the boy made quick progress and at 21 was a capable sailor who stood up manfully under fire in his first engagements with the late Enomoto's Kwaiten.

The little sailor's first great chance came in the Japan China war while commander of the warship Yoshino—and in some quarters he is even given credit for having started the struggle. War had not been declared and the Government in Tokyo was tremendously concerned when word was flashed in that Togo had fired on and sent to the bottom a British vessel which was acting as a Chinese transport and taking troops to Korea. A story is told that a staff officer in the Naval Office in Tokyo exclaimed, when he heard of the incident:

"I always knew Togo was a damned fool."

The future admiral also apparently was worried for he hurried at once to the Impeerial Naval headquarters to explain his action to Admiral Yamamoto, later premier and minister of marine. Togo stumped into the Admiral's presence and stood at attention without uttering a word, accoring to stories told, but watched the face of the Admiral keenly. Yamamoto, who was equally stolid, said nothing but finally called a boy and ordered a bottle of champagne, which he calmly poured for his inferior. Togo grinned appreciation. He knew his action was approved.

Togo was made a real admiral after the war and a vice admiral in 1890. He was commander-in-chief of the combined fleet in the Russo-Japanese war and was made a full admiral after his great victory over the Russian squadron. He also became chief of the naval staff and the idol of all Japan as an exemplification of the Samurai spirit of intense patriotism and complete obedience to his Imperial Master.

A story is told that Togo was called before Emperor Meiji before the battle with the Russians. The emporor was worried. Japan for weeks had been filled with rumors of the advance of the Russian Squadron as it steamed from European waters to the East.

"Do you think you can win?" the Emperor asked the sailor.

"We will annihilate the Russians," Togo replied calmly.

A friend who was present at the interview reproved Togo for his rather gruff reply but the sailor was not worried.

"If we do not win," he said, "I will never see the Emperor again."

All Japan believes Togo went into the battle determined to win or die, for that is the Samurai spirit.

Togo has been described as a great friend of Americans. He likes to recall that the first dinner ever given in his honor by a diplomat was from Lloyd C. Griscom, then American minister of Japan. He has watched the United States navy's development for years and was in Hawaiian waters on the warship Naniwa watching conditions there in the months prior to American annexation of the Islands.

It was a full year after his promotion to admiral before he could find time to buy a uniform, his admirers assert.

"War time is no time to worry about uniforms,' he said, when a brother officer suggested he ought to wear the uniform of his rank.

Togo is a native of Satsuma province, home of the famous Satsuma clan which has produced nearly all of the great naval officers of Japanese history. He lives quietly in Tokyo in a district once called the Golden Slope but renamed Togo Slope in his honor.

Former Residents to Visit Here.

Mrs. Elizabeth Sheldon of Kansas City and Mr. and Mrs. J. J. Dyson and children, Lucy Elizabeth and Sheldon, of Soo Chow, China, will arrive in Maryville the latter part of the week to be the guests of friends. Mr. and Mrs. Dyson and children will be entertained at the home of Miss Grace Langan on West Second street, while Mrs. Dyson's mother, Mrs. Sheldon, will be a guest at the home of Mrs. R. H. Perry. Mr. Dyson is an instructor in the University of Soo Chow and he and his family will return to China this summer after a year's leave at home. Mrs. Dyson was the former Miss Myrtle Sheldon.

Leaves For Cincinnati.

Mrs. W. C. Curl left last night for Cincinnati, Ohio, where she will join Mr. Curl, who is taking a course in electrical engineering at Cincinnati University. They intend to make their future home there. Mrs. Curl received her B. S. degree from the State Teachers College here yesterday morning. Mrs. Curl was formerly Miss Margaret Kerr.

Killed 264 Rats.

(Hopkins Journal).

Alfred Whitten, Jim Downing and others made a raid on the rats at the slaughter house in the old city park the other day, taking up a few boards so as to be able to shoot the poison gas from the exhaust of a Ford car into the runways of the rodents. Several dogs were on hand to participate in the battle and when it was over 264 dead rats were in sight to say nothing of the ones that were buried beneath the sod.

Is 60 Miles an hour fast enough?

Then, here's a performance "thrill" you'll never forget

HERE is a remarkable new-type of car, different in performance, comfort and ease of driving from anything you have ever known before.

It is a complete new departure in automobile engineering.

The whole car is designed as an integral harmonious unit. All parts are co-related with other parts. It is unit-engineered to meet modern performance standards.

You can drive the Overland Six hour after hour at high speed without wear and tear on the engine. It was designed for an average road speed of 45 to 50 miles an hour. Its low gravity center gives you a feeling of security never found in any car of this type before. Without side-sway or slipping or wandering . . . the car fairly hugs the road.

Buy a Modern Car

The radical difference between the Overland Six and other cars built today is this new-type of unit-engineering.

It is an actual fact that 8 out of every 10 cars now being sold in the Overland Six price class were designed anywhere from 5 to 12 years ago. Their modern bodies conceal chassis engineering that is obsolete and antiquated in fundamental design.

But today the Overland Six has established an entirely new set of performance standards.

This big sturdy Six will outpull, out-run and out-perform anything else of its size, or weight, or price-class.

It is a car of exceptional comfort. The big, broad door openings are 32½ inches wide. You can get in or out with the utmost ease.

Seats are wide, luxuriously comfortable. There is more cubic feet of inside space than in any car of this price . . . with plenty of room for five full-size passengers. Room to stretch your legs without feeling cramped or crowded.

The rear springs are extra long . . . and underslung. They are 52 inches long and are made of Chrome Vanadium Steel . . . a costly metal, but it's the best for absorbing the jolts and jars of the road.

Nothing has been spared to make this car a positive comfort-revelation.

Simply in fairness to yourself, see this wonderful car.

Explain Failure to Win Daughters' Confidence

New York, May 20.—What are the leading reasons why American girls do not confide in their mothers?

An editorial inquiry in the Woman's Home Companion with the idea of throwing some light on this timely question brought a flood of letters from girls all over the United States.

An analysis of the replies showed the following reasons why the writers of these letters, having tried to confide in their mothers, no longer do so:

Because 517 mothers deliberately lied when questioned about sex and the source of life; 500 more evaded the question; 351 betrayed confidence; 335 were too old-fashioned; 227 were too busy to listen to their children; 196 were not interested in their daughters' confidences; 172 were too critical; 161 did not trust their daughters, and a confidence was a confession; 143 forgot that they had ever been anything but perfect and were too easily shocked; 139 laughed at childish confidences; 135 insisted on managing all their children's affairs at any age; 118 did not solve their children's religious problems satisfactorily; 114 never invited confidence and gave none; 93 were not affectionate; 71 nagged; 65 were unfair; 54 were dictatorial.

A typical letter from a twenty year old girl said in part:

"It seems to me that the main reason why we of the younger generation, so-called flappers, fail to confide in our mothers is because the mothers fail to invite our confidences.

"We yearned to talk things over with our mothers, but what was the use? They'd fuss and fume and worry and warn us against vague dangers which they would not or could not define. No 'nice' girl did this. That was a foolish thing to do! No sympathy—just admonitions!

"We were—and are—no different from girls in a former period; only they never dared to do or say the things we moderns dare.

"We bob—powder — rouge — wear short skirts—Charleston. We are lively as rubber balls. Why?

"Well, first of all, we are enjoying ourselves. Possibly too we take a certain satisfaction in shocking the older folks! Then undoubtedly we seek attention, mostly of the masculine sort.

"What of it? Our mothers raise horrified eyes heavenward and wonder what this world's coming to. We are impudent, shameless hussies! They forgot that twenty-odd years ago they did the same stunts in a different way. If they hadn't, they would never have landed our dads. But they'll never admit it."

Dr. and Mrs. J. C. Manning and sons, Louis Gaukel and E. V. Roberts of Skidmore; Mr. and Mrs. Mart Bentley, Hack Goodson, Dr. D. J. Hunterson, and W. C. Holtman of Ravenwood; Frank Ashworth and W. R. Groves of Maitland; Henry Van Fossen of Elmo; Pierce Fleming, Walter Bussell, J. N. Sekmidt, Mr. and Mrs. N. Helzer and Mr. and Mrs. Frank Helzer of Graham; and Luther Fast of Burlington Junction were Maryville visitors today.

Lieut. Rutherford Leaves Pine Bluff

Man Freed Once After Slaying By Paying $500 Fine Missing Along With His Brother.

St. Louis, May 27.—Lieut. William Allen Scott Rutherford, who is wanted on a second degree murder charge, has departed from his home at Pine Bluff, Ark., it was revealed today upon the return of St. Louis detectives from that city.

Rutherford, freed once on the charge of slaying Jack Tucker, bellboy, on the payment of a $500 fine, was ordered rearrested late yesterday after a grand jury investigation, directed by Attorney-General Gentry, found that fraud had been practiced.

John Rutherford, wealthy Pine Bluff citizen, who declared he paid much money to keep his brother out of trouble, also left the Arkansas town, the detectives reported.

Lieutenant Rutherford was named in a new indictment charging him with carrying concealed weapons, a move on the part of authorities here to make possible his extradition in case Governor Tarrall of Arkansas refuses to grant his removal to Missouri on the murder charge.

Keck Relatives Leave.

Will Keck of Rushville, Ind., who was summoned here by the fatal illness of his brother, Edward W. Keck, will leave tonight for his home. Dr. and Mrs. Floyd McCluskey of Glenwood, Ia., who came for the funeral, returned home last evening.

Curls Leave For Home.

Dr. and Mrs. O. L. Curl and daughter, Eloise, of Pratt, Kan., came Tuesday to attend the graduation of their daughter, Miss Mary Curl, from the State Teachers College. The former with her parents left this morning for Pratt, Miss Eloise Curl remaining for a longer visit at the home of her sister, Mrs. Harry Price. Miss Mary Curl will teach in the Quitman schools next year.

Miss Nello Thompson and Miss Fern Aley, students at the State Teachers College, returned to their homes at Cainsville today. The young women will return for the summer semester, which opens next week.

CLOSING GRAIN REVIEW.

Chicago, May 27.—All grains closed lower on the Chicago Board of Trade today in sympathy with the break in wheat prices. New May wheat closed 6½ cents lower and all other positions also showed sharp declines. May was subject to extensive selling during the first hour of trading and broke sharply, not to rally at any time during the day.

Corn showed sharp declines in all positions, prices reaching a new low for the crop. This was due chiefly to liquidation. No rally was experienced in the pit.

Oats were fractionally lower in all, save May positions after another dull day.

Provisions closed lower on the dip in wheat and lower hog prices.

E. F. Caldwell Seeks to Modify Decree

Would Visit Daughter At Some Place Other Than At Home Of Her Mother's Parents.

Edwin F. Caldwell yesterday filed with the Circuit Court a petition seeking modification of the divorce decree by which Mrs. Carrie Margaret Caldwell was granted custody of their daughter, Sarah. Notice is given that the motion will be presented tomorrow.

The father declares that the decree provided that he might see and visit the child "at all reasonable times and suitable places," but that the mother has "arbitrarily designated" the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. George B. Baker, or the home of her aunt, as the only suitable place to which she will take the child, or permit her to be taken.

The father's petition asserts that neither of the places so designated is a suitable place to see and visit with his daughter for the reason that the parents of Mrs. Caldwell are "unfriendly" to him and that because of the relationship it would also be "embarrassing and not to the best interest of all concerned" for him to go to the home of the aunt.

Crops Are Menaced by Drouth in Kansas

Topeka, Kan., May 27.—Reports of serious damage to crop fields by continued dry weather are made today. The maturing crops of central and all of western Kansas at this time need rain. The weather bureau holds out little hope for moisture. Hot winds are doing much damage.

Corn planting is finished but the grain needs rain badly.

Wheat in northern Kansas is hard hit.

DEAF HEAR INSTANTLY

Amazing Invention Brings Immediate Relief to Those Who Are Deaf

A wonderful invention which enables the hard of hearing to hear all sounds as clearly and distinctly as a child, has been perfected by the Dictograph Products Corporation, Suite 3131, 14 E. Jackson Blvd., Chicago, Illinois. There is no waiting, no delay, no danger, but quick, positive, instantaneous results—you hear immediately. So positive, are the makers that everyone who is hard of hearing will be amazed and delighted with this remarkable invention, the Acousticon, that they are offering to send it absolutely free for 10 days' trial. No deposit, no C. O. D. No obligation whatever. If you suffer, take advantage of their liberal free trial offer. Send them your name and address today. —Adv.

VASCULAR CORNS

The Kind That Nothing But "End-O-Corn" Will Remove. Your Chiropodist Will Not Take Them Off.

Have you a corn (or corns) that do not yield to ANY treatment? The ordinary "corn cure," liquids or salves will not take them off. Your chiropodist is afraid of them because they are full of little blood vessels.

"END-O-CORN" is the ONLY corn remedy that will take them out and leave the foot absolutely sound and comfortable.

"END-O-CORN" CAN NOT burn nor make the flesh tender and sore. It ENDS CORNS AND CALLOUSES just as surely as you use it for two or three nights.

Every package contains a MONEY GUARANTEE that you can CASH AT ANY BANK if your corns don't disappear.

"END-O-CORN" has been tested and endorsed by the following druggists, but if they are not near you and your neighborhood druggist doesn't have it, write to END-O-CORN LABORATORIES, 4 Garfield Blvd., Chicago, and we will see that you receive a jar.

PAVEMENT ON WALNUT OPEN

NOW RUNS FROM LINCOLN TO TWELFTH.

REINFORCED CONCRETE

Cook-O'Brien Construction Co., Starts Pouring Cement On Davis Street This Afternoon.

The Walnut street pavement is now open. Shortly after 11 o'clock this morning the street between First and Thompson was thrown open for traffic, completing the paved stretch from Lincoln to Twelfth streets.

It is now possible for a person living ten miles south of Maryville to go from that point to the Wabash depot on pavement which is all new or practically so.

The almost 1,000 feet of paving opened today will be measured this week and the figures will be turned over to the City Council to see if the work is in accord with specifications. The paving will then be inspected by Mayor W. O. Garrett and the City Council, after which it will be formally accepted, if satisfactory.

The Walnut street pavement is all of 7-inch reinforced concrete with integral curbs. The work was done by the Cook-O'Brien Construction Co., which has been doing work in Maryville since 1923.

Work on Davis street is now under way. The construction company planned to pour concrete on the 135 by 14 foot strip in front of the parochial home of the Rev. Father Felix this afternoon. This strip will afford additional parking space. Concrete will be poured on the rest of the Davis street project Saturday or early next week.

Louisiana—Enough money has been pledged to assure the graveling of a portion of the Louisiana-Frankfort dirt road.

The Bathing Beauty Season's On Again

Bathing beauty contest time is around again. To prove it, here are ten prize winners in the International Pageant of Pulchritude at Galveston, Tex. Miss Catherine Moylan, "Miss Dallas," fourth from the left end, won the first prize of $2000, and Miss Gladys Moore, "Miss New Orleans," second from the left, won the second prize of $1000. Notice—neither girl has bobbed hair.

Wolves a Menace in This Vicinity

(Hopkins Journal).

Bill Pettyjohn saw a big gray wolf near the Fairview school house, two miles south of Hopkins, last Sunday evening, being close enough to the beast to discover it was a mother wolf evidently having a litter of young ones in that vicinity. Several have been seen in that neighborhood lately by different ones and they are causing the farmers annoyance and loss, not only taking chickens but have been killing young pigs and sheep. W. S. Nicholson being among those who have had sheep killed by the wolves. Mr. Pettyjohn thinks the farmers who have been killing foxes are making a mistake, for the fox does less harm than the wolf and the two will not stay in the same locality, so why not choose the lesser of the two evils by permitting the fox to gain the ascendancy. While the fox will "cop" a chicken occasionally, the cunning little "sarpent" will more than repay the loss by killing off the rabbits, gophers, ground squirrels and other pests.

J. N. Otis on Same Farm for 55 Years

J. N. Otis, south of Hopkins, has been interested in the "oldest business men" stories running in the Journal and now thinks it time to find out who has been on the same farm the greatest number of years, starting the ball rolling by saying he has lived continously on the farm he now owns for fifty-five years, his parents buying and moving onto this farm when he was but nine years of age and he has lived there all these intervening years. As most of our readers know, "Neut" is the father of Federal Judge Merrill E. Otis and his many friends hope he may live and prosper on the old homestead for many years to come. —Hopkins Journal.

400,000 Appendixes Taken Out in 1925

Operations Resulted In Mortality Of 23,000 According To Report To American Surgical Convention.

Detroit, Mich., May 27.—More than 400,000 operations for appendicitis were performed in the United States and Canada during 1925 resulting in a mortality of 23,000, Dr. L. E. Grand Querry of Columbia, S. C., reported to the American surgical association convention now meeting here.

The convention composed of nearly 200 prominent surgeons of America, was to conclude yesterday with election of officers and reading of fifteen papers bearing out technical phases of surgery.

General Conference of Adventists Starts

Delegates From All Parts Of The Country Are In Milwaukee For Church Convention—Will Complete Plans.

Milwaukee, Wis., May 27.—Delegates from all corners of the world are here to attend the quadrennial convention of the General Convention of the Seventh Day Adventists, which opens here today and continues through to June 14.

This session, the forty-first annual meeting of the General Conference, the parent body of the denomination, is being held for the purpose of making plans for the next four years. Election of new officers will be held, reports of officers will be given and missionaries from the far flung section of the world will also be present to give their reports.

The official delegates number 459 although representatives coming from every section of the country are expected to swell the attendance figure to above the 8,000 mark.

Seventh Day Adventists throughout the world are united in their belief that Christ will return in this generation and they are coming to Milwaukee to learn how near accomplished is the program the church has undertaken in giving the gospel concerning the return of Christ to every nation, kindred, tongue and people in this generation, according to officials in charge of the convention.

The forty eight states in the union and the provinces of Canada are divided into twelve conferences and sixty two local conferences, all of which are represented at the sessions here. Europe has sent eleven delegates at large from the division headquarters, and there are also delegates present from the Baltic states, Great Britain, Germany, France, Czecho-Slovakia, Hungary, Italy, Poland, Scandinavia, Russia, Jugo-Slavia and Greece. From Africa, delegates came from Egypt on the north, down through the continent as far as Cape Colony.

Fundamentalists and Liberalists to Meet

Several Important Issues To Come Before Annual General Assembly Of Presbyterian Church.

Baltimore, May 27.—The long standing controversy between Fundamentalists and Liberals formed the chief issue expected to come before the 138th annual General assembly of the Presbyterian Church which met here today to continue in session until June 2.

The general assembly is composed of approximately 1,000 commissioners, ministers and laymen in equal parts, representing the 299 presbyteries in every state in the Union. It is the supreme judicatory body in the church.

The Fundamentalist-Liberal controversy will come before the Assembly on account of complaints against the New York Presbytery and through the report of the Special Peace Commission appointed by the General Assembly in 1925.

Rev. Walter D. Buchanan, heading a minority in the New York Presbytery, has announced his attention to charge that that Presbytery is derelict in duty in refusing to license any candidates for the ministery during the past year. The New York Presbytery was rebuked by the last General Assembly for licensing misisters who were regarded as unsound on matters of doctrine such as the Virgin Birth or the Miracles of Christ.

The Special Peace Commission, the report of which is also expected to bring the Fundamentalists-Liberal conflict before the Assembly, was charged by the 1925 Assembly with investigating the cause of unrest in the Church and with discovering some way of reassuring the purity, peace, unity and progress of the Church. The Commission, which consists of 15 leaders of the denomination under the chairmanship of Dr. Henry C. Swearingen of St. Paul, Minn., has met several times during the past year to hear witnesses on both sides of the controversy.

The report of this Commission, probably the chief point of interest during the Assembly, is scheduled for presentation Friday afternoon but the docket prescribes that discussion and consideration of the report shall not take place until late the folowing Monday.

The relative strength of the Fundamentalist and Liberal groups in the Assembly will probably disclose to the afternoon session during the balloting for the election of a new Moderator.

Two candidates are in the field, Dr. Lapsley A. McAfee, Berkeley, California, is the avowed candidate of the Fundamentalist. His rival, Dr. William O. Thompson, recently retired from the Presidency of Ohio State University, though himself also regarded as a Fundamentalist is receiving the support of the more liberal element in the church.

Oil Industry in U. S. Starts Its Defense

Washington, May 27.—The American Petroleum Institute today will attempt to clear up for the record of the Federal Oil Conservation Board before it is submitted to President Coolidge, some of the charges that have been made that the oil industry is the "bad boy" of the American conservation movement.

Charles Evans Hughes, former secretary of state, was to appear today at a special hearing called by the board to present the Institute's case. It is alleged that the oil resources are being spent faster than the supply can stand for future needs.

The President's oil board held hearings last February and has been constantly at work compiling the mass of testimony and data pertaining to oil resources and the necessity for drastic conservation.

It was pointed out at the hearings that "the wastes in the petroleum industry are of shocking magnitude." Just what must be done to check these wastes and at the same time assure the country of its petroleum needs are among the problems confronting the Board in its determinations.

At William Jewell Commencement Week

The Rev. and Mrs. Guy L. Prather and family and Mrs. Laura Morris and son, Roscoe, returned late yesterday from Liberty where they attended commencement week activities at William Jewell College. They were entertained at the homes of the Rev. C. C. Marriott and the Rev. John W. Lowe, both of which have been in Maryville a number of times. The Rev. Mr. Prather is a graduate of William Jewell College.

Tornado Rocked St. Louis 30 Years Ago

Four Hundred Lives Lost With Property Damage of Fifty Million Dollars May 27, 1896.

Thirty years ago, May 27, 1896, occurred the St. Louis tornado which took toll of some four hundred lives and property estimated in value as high as 50 million dollars. Up until that time no large American city had suffered so disastrous a storm, and the country was horrified at the news.

The storm, a typical tornado, struck shortly after 5 o'clock in the afternoon, near Compton Hill at the southwestern edge of the city, swept a pathway of varying width up to three-fourths of a mile for a distance of five miles through the heart of St. Louis. It wrought great damage to buildings throughout its course, playing havoc with river boats when it reached the Mississippi River front, partly wrecking the Eads bridge, and then passed over into East St. Louis, where the destruction in proportion was equally great. The storm continued its course for some distance into the state of Illinois.

Normal activities in St. Louis were paralyzed for days following the storm. There were some two thousand injured to be cared for, and the dead to be buried. Normal street car service was not resumed for some days because of debris that covered the streets, and the damage to power houses. Curiosity seekers flocked in by thousands in the following days. For a time it was feared the Republican national convention scheduled for June 16 would have to be moved to some other city, but recovery was sufficiently rapid to permit the convention. William McKinley was nominated for the presidency for the first time in the storm-wreked town.

Waterways Debate Is Attracting Interest

Detroit, May 27.—Under the auspices of the Detroit Union League Club, former Governor W. L. Harding of Iowa, and Congressman S. Wallace Dempsey of New York, chairman of the House Rivers and Harbors Committee, tonight are scheduled to debate here the respective merits of the so-called New York Ship Canal, and the St. Lawrence Waterway.

Representing the middle-west, Harding will defend the proposed Great Lakes-to-the-Sea project via the St. Lawrence River, while Dempsey, a champion of the New York proposal, will argue for the so-called All-American waterway.

Interest in the debate, which is prompted by a desire to clarify the atmosphere toward a solution of the water transportation problems of the great middle-west, was expected to draw here many leading proponents of the two proposals.

ADJOURNMENT TALK CUTS DOWN NUMBER.

HOUSE SETS RECORD

12,414 Measures Introduced At Present Session, Most During First Three Weeks.

Washington, May 27.—Adjournment talk has caused a marked decline in the introduction of bills by House members.

Until three weeks or a month ago an average of 15 bills were introduced daily but since the date for closing the session has become the paramount topic for conversation, the average has dropped to eight.

Despite the let-up in the presentation of proposed legislation, the present house is destined to make history as far as the number of bills introduced is concerned. Before this session adjourns there will have been more bills introduced than were introduced during the two sessions of the last congress.

A check-up revealed that 12,414 bills have been introduced during the present session while 12,474 were presented in both sessions of the last congress.

A cry to put the brakes on enactment of additional laws echoed through the country shortly before the present congress convened but house records show that it failed to deter the legislators.

Nearly half of the bills introduced to date were presented during the first three weeks of the session. More than 2,500 were dropped into the hopper on the initial day of the session.

While the agitation against passage of additional laws had but little effect of individual members, the house itself has been extremely conservative in writing new provisions on the statute books. Except for the tax reduction bill, the regular appropriation bills remedial legislation for the air services and several measures amending the national banking laws, the house has avoided enactment of any additional laws.

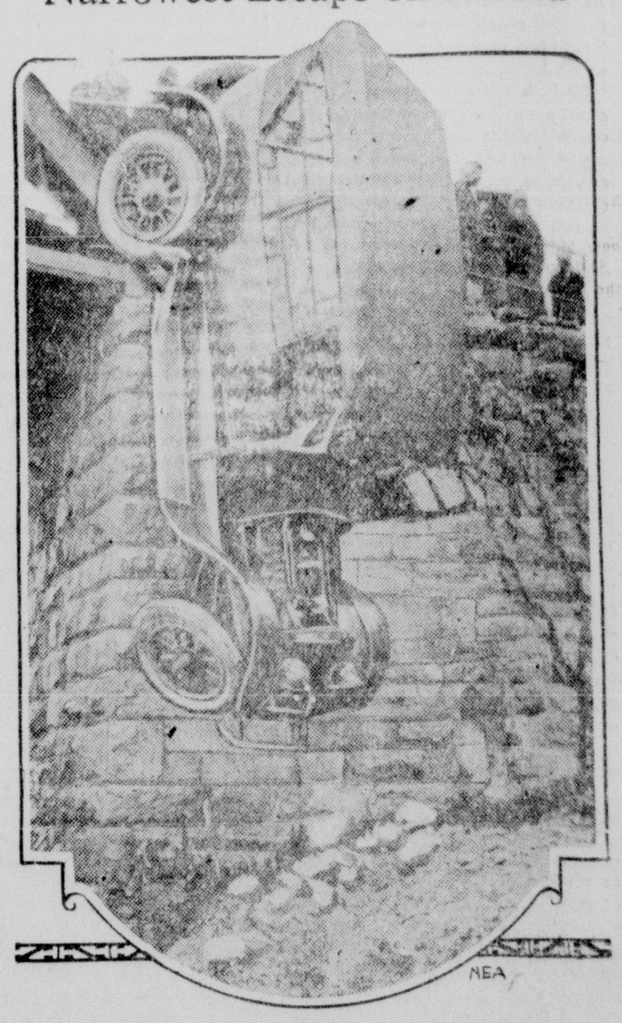
Narrowest Escape on Record



The two men who were riding in this auto at Strinestown, Pa., had just about the narrowest escape on record. Their car failed to make a turn and crashed through the side of the bridge. But one rear wheel caught in the wreckage and the car hung suspended over the side. The men stayed in the car and were rescued by firemen with ladders.

DEMOCRACY OR CASTE.

Dr. M. N. Chatterjee, native of India and professor of social science in an American college, calls attention to an American peril to which many Americans never give a thought.

"Unless you take steps to prevent it," he says, "you will have the same kind of civilization here, eventually, that we have in India, and 5,000 years from now your descendants will be lecturing before audiences in Timbuctoo, warning them against caste, just as I am warning you."

Democracy, we are prone to forget, is still an experiment. Our nation is the oldest democracy now existing, and its age is short as historical epochs are measured. Sometimes, too, an observing American has a suspicion that even now we are none too democratic. Only real democracy—the feeling and practice of basic human equality running through society—can keep a nation from a caste system.

TOOTHACHE AND HEX. RES.

The court martial at San Diego, Cal., trying Col. Williams for intoxication on the accusation of Gen. Butler, brought out some testimony of unusual interest.

Two dental experts, testifying for the defense, explained that when the puritanic general thought he saw his host staggering and babbling in a maudlin manner, the general himself may have been suffering from "dental-lesions" which impaired his vision. Toothache, it appears, may cause hallucinations.

Furthermore, several witnesses testified that the defendant, instead of being drunk when he welcomed Gen. Butler in what seemed an alcoholic manner on the night of March 6, was probably suffering from the effects of an outlandish drug called 'hexyl-resorcinol' prescribed by his physician. That drug, they explained, often causes dizziness, nausea, etc.

So here are new resources for the great American game of lawing. Here are precedents that may have a wide application hereafter. Many and many a witness invalidated by the simple statement that at the time he thought he saw the alleged offense committed he had a dental abscess. Many a defendant will come off unscathed by the plea that it wasn't bootleg booze at all, but a docile patient's perfectly proper indulgence in hexyl-resorcinol.

What Other Editors Say

TO RESTRICT PISTOL SALES.

A bill prohibiting the shipment through the mails of pistols or other firearms that can be concealed on the person was passed by the House last Wednesday. A similar bill, designed to prevent the interstate shipment of such firearms, is now pending before the House Committee on Interstate and Foreign Commerce. Each of these measures makes it a crime punishable by a fine of not exceeding $1000 or a prison sentence of not more than two years to ship pistols to anyone except bona fide dealers, postal employes, and officers engaged in law enforcement or military service.

This paper has repeatedly urged the enactment of legislation to put a stop to the use of the mails in the sale of pistols. In such traffic the federal Government, which conducts the mail service, graciously aids in placing a murderous weapon in the criminal's hands. Strict state and local laws against the sale of pistols can have but little effect so long as that form of assistance is offered. All the gunman has to do when he wishes to avoid these bothersome regulations is to place his order with a mail order house, and the weapon will be delivered at his door. While the government has done much to prevent the use of the mails to defraud, it has done nothing to stop the use of the mails in the commission of holdups and murders.

Within the last twelve months, it was stated in the discussion of these measures, nearly 6000 pistols were sent through the mails for distribution in Detroit. It would be interesting to know how many were so distributed in St. Louis, in Chicago, or in New York, where, says Chief Magistrate, McAdoo, a crying need exists that the pistol be banned. It would be still more interesting to know how many were procured by law-abiding citizens and how many by gangsters, bandits and thugs.

By actually assisting the criminal to obtain the weapon that he almost invariably uses in killing and plundering, the government is lending encouragement to crime. As a means of defense against the gunman, the pistol is practically valueless. It is so for the simple reason that the gunman gets the drop on his victim; taken by surprise, he is at the mercy of the criminal, armed with the most powerful weapon of crime.

But the bill just passed by the House and the other one under consideration would make it much more difficult for the enemies of society to secure this deadly weapon. They would make it possible for the states, by their own laws, to control the sale of pistols. And, finally, there is good reason to believe that they would prove a most potent means of curbing the slaughter committed by pistol-toters.—St. Louis Globe-Democrat.

JUDGE HENRY LAMM

There has been no brighter, more engaging, more lovable man in the public life of Missouri than Judge Henry Lamm of Sedalia, whose death occurred Sunday. He commanded the affection of his profession as perhaps no other lawyer in the State's history. He was a philosopher, taking neither himself nor the world very seriously. His sparkling wit endeared him to all who came into contact with him, and when he was elected to the State Supreme Court he brought that wit along where, mellowed into humor, it often leavened the proceedings and will chuckle forever in the decisions of that austere tribunal.

It was Herbert S. Hadley, then a young man with most of his career ahead of him, who placed Judge Lamm in nomination on a sweltering Joplin day, 24 years ago. Missouri had not contracted the habit of electing Republicans at that time, but Hadley predicted that Missouri would elect Henry Lamm and would remember having done so with happiness and pride. The prophecy was fulfilled in all respects.

Another testimonial to his popularity was the race he made for Governor in 1916, when he ran some 30,000 ahead of his ticket. But all the honors that came to him were borne with a delightful modesty. There was simply no such word as strut in the Judge's quaint, quizzical lexicon. A thorough scholar who shunned bookishness as a fearsome thing; diligent and able in all affairs; a genuine homespun gentleman.—St. Louis Post-Dispatch.

MISSOURI IS REAL COUNTRY

Missouri does not appreciate her own advantages. Her greatest drawback, consists, paradoxically, in her abundance of natural resources. She takes them for granted. A campaign for advertising among sister states is a fine idea, but there is a greater necessity of selling Missouri to her own citizens. One need only to scratch the ground here and there and give the least possible care to almost anything to make it grow. Yet, the states which must irrigate and turn themselves wrong side out to raise their crops advertise themselves in season and out of season and shout to the high heaven that they are the garden spot of the universe.

If Missouri had to drain swamps, if she had to carry water for her farms hundreds of miles her citizens would think the state marvelous. But no, rain, direct from the sky and abundant flowing rivers water the state, so there is nothing wonderful about it. The fact that a natural water supply gives a better flavor to fruit than does irrigation is forgotten.—St. Joseph News Press.

TRIED TO BEGIN AT THE TOP.

Newspaper men, who have been in the same fix, know what young Vanderbilt is up against. He wants to borrow money to keep his newspapers going. His papers lack punch because he hasn't got it, can't hire it. His rich relatives, sensing that he can't make the grade, don't want him to get in any deeper. He began at the top with lots of money. Now he has it tied up. Most newspaper men begin at the bottom, win or lose by the endurance test.

NERVES ALL UNSTRUNG?

Maryville Folks Should Find the Cause and Correct It.

Are you all worn out? Feel tired, nervous, half-sick. Do you have a constant backache; sharp twinges of pain, too, with dizzy spells and annoying urinary disorders? Then there's cause for worry and more cause to give your weakened kidneys prompt help. Use Doan's Pills—a stimulant diuretic to the kidneys.

Maryville folks recommend Doan's for just such troubles.

Mrs. J. W. Smith, 203 S. Market St., Maryville, says: "A dull, bearing down pain settled across my kidneys. The aching kept up for two or three days at a time and it seemed every time I stooped sharp catches took me through the small of my back. I was subject to nervousness and dizzy spells when little spots floated before my eyes. After using several boxes of Doan's Pills, I was rid of the attack."

How to stop BOILS!

There's only one way to stop boils. Stop the cause of boils! That's common sense—isn't it? All right. Boils thrive because the blood gets so weak in healthy, red cells that it can't throw off the impurities that get into the body. There's not enough rich, red blood to purify the system.

Now—S. S. S. builds back the blood to fighting strength. S. S. S. builds red-blood-cells — builds them by the millions! Boils dry up!

S. S. S. is the thing. Impurities that cause boils and other skin eruptions can't stand up against the rich, healthy, red blood that S. S. S. builds. That's all there is to it.

HIGHWAY SAFETY A REAL INVESTMENT.

Greater safety on Missouri highways means simply increased returns from roads in which the state is investing large sums. Linked up with the present move for safety is the effort to secure regulations that will protect the highways from abuse. The aims of both are identical and are in keeping with the purposes of the entire highway movement in the state.

A leading objective of the present effort is adoption of a drivers' license system in the state. On that question there naturally may arise differences of opinion. There may be the fear that the license system would work hardships in certain cases, for example, with farmers who find it desirable or necessary to have children 13 or 14 years old drive vehicles. Or there may be objection to a fee for licenses or examinations.

But when the question is properly considered it will be found that the gains from a recognized safety system, as the license system is, are the chief consideration in practically all cases. No system, of course, can meet the wishes of every person, especially where the population of an entire state is involved. That was true in the case of the state highway system itself. But although there are those who opposed building the state roads it could hardly be denied by any observant citizen that the highways now constitute one of the principal assets of the state. The farmers as well as other citizens realized that fact when they favored an increase in motor license fees and a gasoline tax in order that the highway construction might be speeded up.

Now that the state is getting the highways into which it is putting its money, the obvious necessity is to make the roads safe and to preserve them for the use of the general public. The additional expenditure required through the payment of a drivers' license or examination fee would be inconsiderable. It would mean only another investment in the profitable business of modern highway traffic.—Kansas City Times.

WOMEN OF MIDDLE AGE

Praise Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound

Mrs. Annie Kwinski of 526 1st Avenue, Milwaukee, Wis., writes that she became so weak and run-down that she was not able to do her housework. She saw the name Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound in the paper and said to her husband, "I will try that medicine and see if it will help me." She says she took six bottles and is feeling much better.

Mrs. Mattie Adams, who lives in Downing Street, Brewton, Ala., writes as follows: "A friend recommended Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and since taking it I feel like a different woman."

With her children grown up, the middle-aged woman finds time to do the things she never had time to do before—read the new books, see the new plays, enjoy her grand-children, take an active part in church and civic affairs. Far from being pushed aside by the younger set, she finds a full, rich life of her own. That is, if her health is good.

Thousands of women past fifty, say they owe their vigor and health to Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, and are recommending it to their friends and neighbors.

Hardware That Stands Hard Wear.

Oliver October

By George Barr McCutcheon

SYNOPSIS.

CHAPTER I.—Oliver October Baxter, Ja., was born on a vile October day. His parents were prominent in the commercial, social and spiritual life of the town of Rumley. His father was proprietor of the hardware store. The night that Oliver October was born a gypsy queen reads his father's fortune and tells him what a wonderful future his son has before him, but after the reading, the gypsy becomes angry and leaves the house in a rage after telling Mr. Baxter that his son will never reach the age of thirty, and he will be hanged for a crime of which he is not guilty.

CHAPTER II.—Ten years elapse and Oliver's father is the owner of a business block in the town. Mrs. Baxter died when Oliver was nearing seven. Josephine Sage, wife of the minister, causes a sensation when she leaves Rumley to go on the stage. She becomes a "star" and later goes to London, where she scores a hit. Her daughter, Jane, and young Oliver become greatly attached to one another. After finishing college, young Oliver accepts a position in Chicago with an engineering company. He goes to China on an important mission for him firm. Upon his return he enlists in the Canadian army.

Chapter III.—The war over, Oliver returns to Chicago and is told by his employers that his services are no longer required. He returns home. He hears Jane is in love with Doctor Lansing. Jane and Oliver meet again. Oliver is reprimanded by his father for not getting another position. Oliver threatens to leave home.

CHAPTER IV.—Despite Mr. Baxter's pleading to Oliver to remain in Rumley, Oliver decides to accept a position in Chicago. Mr. Baxter accompanies Oliver through a swamp on the way to the Sage home. On the way they quarrel over Oliver's refusal to stay in Rumley. Mr. Sage tells Oliver his father fears the thing the gypsy predicted and wants his son to stay home, where he can watch over him. Oliver decides not to leave. Mr. Baxter fails to return home and is believed by some to have perished in the swamp. Oliver tells the authorities of the quarrel with his father, but they do not accuse him of having anything to do with his father's disappearance. Oliver takes charge of his father's business. Three months remain of the last year allotted to Oliver by the gypsy "queen." Uncle Horace Gooch announces himself as a candidate for state senator. Friends start a boom for young Oliver as candidate for state senator against old man Gooch. Jane forces Oliver to enter the race against his Shylock uncle.

CHAPTER V.—Oliver employs ditch diggers to drain part of the swamp where his father is supposed to have disappeared. Mr. Gooch's campaign managers urge him to withdraw from the race for senator, as they realize that Oliver is the most popular candidate. Mr. Gooch refuses to quit. Reverend Sage is happy when his actress-wife cables him that she is sailing for home. Mr. Sage and his daughter go to New York to meet her. Mr. Gooch, convinced he would lose the election to Oliver, plans to try and intimidate him by demanding a thorough investigation into the disappearance of Oliver's father.

CHAPTER VI.

A Star's Homecoming.

The return of Mrs. Sage after an absence of 23 years was an "event" far surpassing in interest anything that had transpired in Rumley since the strange disappearance of old Oliver Baxter.

Hundreds of people, eager to see the famous "Josephine Judge," crowded the station platform long before the train from Chicago was due to arrive; they filled the depot windows; they were packed like sardines atop the square baggage and express trucks; they ranged in overflow disorder along the sidewalks on both sides of the street adjacent.

The train pulled in. The crowd tiptoed and gaped, craned its thousand necks, and then surged to the right. Above the hissing of steam and the grinding of wheels rose the voice of Sammy Parr far down the platform.

"Keep back, everybody! Don't crowd up so close. Right this way, Mr. Sage—How are you? Open up there, will you? Let 'em through. Got my new car over here, Mr. Sage—lots of room. Hello, Jane! Great honor to have the pleasure of taking Mrs. Sage home in my car. Right over this way. Grab those suitcases, boy. Open up, please!"

Mr. Sage paused aghast half way down the steps of th last coach but one. He stared, open-mouthed, out over the sea of faces; his knees seemed about to give way under him; his nervous fingers came near relaxing their grip on the suitcase handles; he was bewildered, stunned.

"In heaven's name—" he groaned, and then, poor man, over his shoulder in helpless distress to the girl behind him—"Oh, Jane, why didn't we wait for the midnight—"

But someone had seized the bags and with them he was dragged ingloriously to the platform. Jane came next, crimson with embarrassment. She hurried down the steps and waited at the bottom for her mother to apear. As might have been expected of one so truly theatric, Josephine delayed her appearance until the stage was clear, so to speak. She even went so far as to keep her audience waiting. Preceded by the Pullman porter, who up to this time had remained invisible but now appeared as a proud and shining minion bearing boxes and traveling cases, wraps and furs, she at length appeared, stopping on the last step to survey, with well affected surprise and a charming assumption of consternation, the crowd that packed the platform.

Now, a great many—perhaps all—of those who made up the eager, eurous crowd, expected to behold a young and radiant Josephine Judge; they had seen her in the illustrated Sunday supplements and in the pictorial magazines; always she was sprightly and vivid and alluring. They were confronted instead, by a tall, angular woman of fifty-two or fifty-three, carelessly—even "sloppily"—dressed in a slouchy two-piece pepper and salt tweed walking costume. What most of the observers at first took to be a wad of light brown fur tucked under her right arm was discovered to be a beady-eyed "Pekinese."

But the minister's wife was still a vividly handsome woman. She had taken good care of herself; she had made a business of keeping young in looks as well as in spirit.

In a clear, full voice, trained to reach remote perches in lofty theaters, she spoke to her husband from the coach steps:

"Herbert, dear, have you the checks for my baggage, or have I?"

"I—I will attend to the trunks—" he began huskily, only to be interrupted by the indefatigable Sammy.

"Don't give 'em another thought, Mr. Sage. I'll see to everything. Give me the checks and—right this way, please, Mrs. Sage."

"Thank you—thank you so much," said Mrs. Sage graciously, and, as Sammy bustled ahead, inquired in an undertone of Jane at whose side she walked. "Is that the wonderful Oliver October I've been hearing so much about?"

"No, mother—that is Sammy Parr. I—I don't se Oliver anywhere. I wrote him the train we were coming—"

A few paces ahead Sammy was explaining loudly to Mr. Sage: "I guess something important of a political nature must have turned up to keep Oliver from meeting the train. We had it all fixed up to meet you with my car and he was to be here at four sharp. Doc Lansing's up at Harbor Point, Mich., for a little vacation. Won't be back till Sunday week. Muriel's out here in the car, Mr. Sage. She'll drive you home while I see about the baggage."

Mr. Sage had recovered his composure by this time. He leaned close to Sammy's ear and said gravely:

"Luggage, Sammy—luggage."

"Sure—I get you," said Sammy, winking. "But just the same I'll call it baggage till I've got it safely out of the hands of Jim O'Brien, the baggage master. Here we are! Hop right in, Jane. Permit me to introduce myself, Mrs. Sage. I am—"

"I remember you quite well," interrupted the great actress (pronouncing it "quate"). "You are Sammy Parr—little Sammy Parr.

"I say, Herbert, old thing, you can't make me believe this is Rumley. You are deceiving me. I don't recognize a single—Oh, yes, I do! I take it all back. I would know that man if I saw him in Timbuktu. The old Johnnie in the car we just passed. It was Gooch—the amiable Gooch—and, my word, what a dust he was raising!"

Oliver, pedaling furiously, arrived at the parsonage ten minutes behind the Sages. The minister greeted him as he came clattering up the front steps.

"Sh!" he cautioned, his finger to his lips. "Don't make such a noise, Oliver—if you please. She's resting. Sh! Do you mind toptoeing, lad?"

"Where is Jane, Uncle Herbert?" broke in Oliver, twiddling his hat. He was struck by the dazed, beatific, and yet harassed expression in the minister's eyes.

"Jane? Oh, yes, Jane. Why, Jane is upstairs with her dear mother—helping her with her hair, I think. I am sure she will not be down for some time, Oliver. After the hair I think she rubs her back or something of that sort. Do you mind strolling around the yard with me, Oliver? I was on the point of taking Henry the Eighth out for a little exercise."

"Henry the what?" inquired Oliver, still gripping the pastor's hand.

"The Eighth," said Mr. Sage, looking about the porch and shifting the position of his feet in some trepidation. "Bless my soul, what can have become of him? I hope I haven't been standing on him. I should have squashed him— Ah, I remember! The hatrack!"

He dashed into the hall, followed by Oliver, and there was Henry the Eighth suspended from the hatrack by his leash in such a precarious fashion that only by standing on his hind legs was he able to avoid strangulation.

"I am so absent-minded," murmured Mr. Sage, rather plaintively. "Poor doggie! Was he being hanged like a horrid old murderer? Was he—"

"I say, Uncle Herbert, don't you think Jane may have finished—er—rubbing Mrs. Sage's back by this time?" interrupted the impatient Oliver.

"Possibly," said the other. "Come along doggie—let's romp a bit."

Meanwhile, Jane, having brushed her mother's hair, was now employed in the more laborious task of rubbing the lady's back.

"You have a great deal of magnetism in your hands, my dear," droned Mrs. Sage luxuriously. "As I say, my maid always did it for me in London, but she never had the touch that you have. The right shoulder now, please."

"I think Oliver is downstairs with father," began Jane wistfully.

"She was my dresser, too," went on Mrs. Sage drowsily. "Really, I wonder now that I endured her as long as I did. And I shouldn't if she hadn't been so kind to Henry the Eighth. I do hope your father is giving him a nice little romp in the front—"

"Shall I run down and see, mother?" broke in Jane eagerly.

"Presently, my dear, presently. I shall be taking my tub in a few—you say we have a bathroom now? Dear me, how the house has grown. How many servants have we?"

"One," said Jane succinctly.

"One?" gasped Josephine. "I never heard of such a thing."

"One is all we need, and besides one is all we can afford. I am afraid you will have a lot to put up with, mother dear."

Josephine was silent for a long time. Suddenly she lifted her head and looked up into her daughter's face.

"My dear," she said, with a wry little twist at the corner of her generous mouth, "I've come home to stay. I daresay you will find me capable of taking things as they are. I did it once before, and I can do it again."

The express wagon with Mrs. Sage's trunks arrived as Oliver, in despair, was preparing to depart as he had come, on Marmaduke Smith's bicycle. He took fresh hope. Here was a chance to see Jane after all.

"Where do you want the trunks, Jane?" he shouted from the bottom of the stairs. There was no answer. "Where shall we put them, Uncle Herbert?" he asked, his hands jammed deep in his pockets.

"Bless my soul, I—I haven't an idea," groaned Mr. Sage, passing his hand over his brow. "Unless you put them in my study," he suggested brightly.

Fifteen minutes later, the trunks being piled high in the pastor's little study, Oliver mopped his brow and expressed himself feelingly to Mr. Sage from the bottom of the porch steps.

"Uncle Herbert, I think Jane might have been allowed a minute or two to say hello to a fellow. Good Lord, sir, is—is this to be Jane's job from now on?"

"Sh! The windows are open, Oliver."

"Is she to be nothing but a lady's maid to Aunt Josephine?"

"We are so happy to have her with us, my dear boy, that—er—nothing—er—"

"I understand, Uncle Herbert," broke in Oliver contritely, noting the pastor's distress. "I'm sorry I spoke as I did. Tell Jane I'll call her up this evening. And please tell Aunt Josephine I am awfully keen to see her. I used to love her better than anything going, you know."

Then he pedaled slowly away on Marmaduke's wheel, looking over his shoulder until the windows of the parsonage were no longer visible.

Maryville Kids Are Hard to Beat- And So Is Armorspar Varnish!

TWO husky kids who are ambitious to be sailors practiced with a home made sailboat in their bathtub last week. Before they got through, they spilled half a tub of water on the bathroom floor. It ran out the door and down the hallway.

But no damage was done! It happened that the floors had been finished with Cook's Armorspar Varnish—the varnish that is truly waterproof. And in spite of their soaking, they came through looking good as new!

Armorspar Varnish is just the finish for your bathroom and kitchen. The window sills, especially, need the protection that Armorspar can give. If your front door is looking shabby and worn, a coat of Armorspar will renew its good looks, and protect it from wind and rain and sun.

Armorspar Varnish comes in convenient size cans, and is easy to apply. Come in and let us show you sample panels finished with this truly water-proof varnish.

Motorists Robbed of Thousands Each Day

"Short Measure Thieves" at Filling Stations Take at Least $25,000, Say Weight Experts.

Washington, May 27.—Motorists of the country contribute at least $25,000 a day to the "short measure" robbers at gasoline filling stations. It was stated today before the 19th National Conference on weights and measures, in session at the bureau of standards.

At least 50 large cities of the United States are known to be without protection from "careless" dealers who average approximately two per cent shortage on their customers.

In Columbus, Ohio, a day's inspection by M. A. Bridge, sealer of weights in that city, showed $550 was taken from the motorists pocketbooks by short measure, he told the convention.

The maximum shortage found by Bridge was one and two thirds quarts in a gallon at a single station. Nine prosecutions were brought as a result of this day's work by one inspector. He figured 200,000 gallons of gasoline a year were thus being diverted from consumers.

The conference today turned attention to various practices affecting the motorists. In some cases the dealers cheat themselves by their faulty equipment, but in far too many cases, it is found, the automobile driver is the victim of these "accidents."

State and local legislation designed to curb the most widespread of these practices of deception which rob the public of millions of dollars annually is being considered based upon the best experience of states most benefitted by adequate supervision. The south and the southwest have suffered the most from the traffic, the east, the mid-west and Pacific coast regions having cleared up many of the old forms of short measure mulcting.

Still Too Dry for Good Crop Growth

General Soaking Rain Needed Everywhere, Says Government Report. —Strawberry Season Opens June 1.

The weather during the week ending Tuesday morning was too dry generally and, until the closing days, too cool for normal crop growth in Missouri, according to the weekly weather and crop bulletin for Missouri, issued by George Reeder, meterologist at Columbia for the United States Department of Agriculture.

"Practically all vegetation is still about ten days backward," the report continues. "The rainfall to date is markedly deficient, being only about 50 per cent of the seasonal normal. The percentage of sunshine was large, though there was no real warmth until Sunday and Monday. A general soaking rain is needed everywhere and badly in most of the northwestern and southeastern counties.

"Most bottom land wheat continued to do well; much of it is in boot, and in the southern part of the State heads are beginning to form; in Dunklin County a small per cent is in bloom. Most upland wheat is rather short and thin. The dry weather is causing some local deterioration. The oats are mostly short.

"Corn planting is nearly finished, except that work still lags somewhat in the northeast counties. Much is up, though stands are irregular though mostly fair. Rain and more warmth needed.

Cotton is up to good stand in Dunklin and Pemiscott Counties, but it has been too dry for proper germination in most of New Madrid, Scott, and Mississippi Counties.

"The alfalfa crop is very good; pastures, meadows, and most truck need rain, though potatoes are looking well. In some western counties stock water is getting low.

"Strawberries continued to make satisfactory advancement; a good rain would fill out the crop. General picking and car lot shipments will begin June first."

Maryville was one of the few points in the state that received no rainfall at all during the week, according to the meterologist's report by cities. The total rainfall for the state was .28 inch, as against a thirty-six year normal of 1.18, and the total state rainfall from April 1 to date is only 4.1 inches as against a thirty-six year normal of 7.57.

The highest temperature in Maryville (prior to Tuesday) was 88 and the lowest was 46.

To Supervise Play of Trenton Boys

S. T. C. Student Will Have Charge of Recreation at Public Playground. A Popular Institution.

Leonard Lewis, a student at the State Teachers College, will have charge this summer of recreational activities for boys at Trenton, which has a public playground and a schedule of supervised games, contests and play hours.

Mr. Lewis was a member of last fall's championship football team and the tumbling team and has been taking a course in athletic supervision.

A woman supervisor will be in charge of the play activities of Trenton girls. Both boys and girls are offered tennis courts, croquet courts, basketball courts, slides, swings, and free use of a swimming pool, through co-operation of Trenton city council and the Parent-Teachers Association.

The children's playground has become Trenton's chief recreational center for boys and girls. Mothers send their tots there, sure they will be safe to romp and play. The supervised sport is both instructive and health giving to the youngsters and the program each year is growing in popularity and usefulness.

Kansas City's County Clubs Plan Big Picnic

Probably the largest picnic ever held by a strictly Missouri organization will be at Fairyland Park, Kansas City, Mo., June 13, when members of the United County Clubs of Missouri hold their first annual picnic.

Banners, balloons and bands will welcome the thousands of members of the clubs to the park. The big picnic groves and scores of amusement features will be open all day until midnight to entertain the crowds. Parking space will be reserved on the entire south side of the park and the new picnic pavilion, the only one of its kind in this part of the United States, will be reserved exclusively for the club members.

Children will have the entire park to play in, and a dozen rides exclusively for children to enjoy. Extra performances of "The Palm Beach Frolics" will be given.

The picnic is for Missourians looking to law enforcement, civic betterments, good roads and fellowship in city, county and state. A speaking program has been arranged with speakers who are nationally prominent Missourians: Senator James A. Reed, Bishop William F. McMurry, Governor Sam Baker, Senator George H. Williams, Mayor Albert I. Beach, Frank McAllister, John T. Barker, David M. Proctor, and Ex-Senator, Howard E. Gray. Cornelius Roach will be chairman.

There are twenty-eight county clubs in the organization, each with membership of between 200 and 2,000. Twenty counties have already arranged to attend. They are: Carroll, Franklin, Henry, Howard, Jasper, Knox, Lafayette, Lewis, Livingston, Macon, Monroe, Nodaway, Pike, Putman, Platt, Ray, Randolph, Saline, Shelby, Sheridan.

Special trains and reduced rates on all trains probably will be obtained by the committee on transportation. Each county club president will be in charge of his respective county club picnic group and assist in arranging their movements and part in the program.

Special street cars will be run from the Union Station direct to the park. A committee of two representing each county will meet the trains at the Union Station. They will bear their county banner and can readily be identified. Likewise every county will have a representative at the park's south motor car entrance to tag the motorist members as they enter.

Free admission will be given to every club member and party.

The luncheon will start at 10 A. M., and continue until 2:30 P. M., and each member is urged to bring a well-filled basket.

Wabash to Change Time of Two Trains

A slight change in time of Wabash passenger trains No. 11 and 14, passing through here, will be made after June 6, according to the Shenandoah, Ia., Sentinel-World.

The company also plans to put an additional sleeper on the two trains giving direct sleeping car service to and from St. Louis and Los Angeles.

Politicians Wonder About Coolidge Luck

Pennsylvania Defeat Starts "Experts" Talking—"Old Guard" Won Out This Time.

By Charles P. Stewart
NEA Service Writer

Washington—After an exceptionally peaceful session of Congress—with insurgency squelched, Republicans and Democrats working in harmony and everything as lovely as you please—adjournment approaches with a regular hubbub going on.

Bill Vare's defeat of George Wharton Pepper and Gifford Pinchot for the Republican senatorial nomination in Pennsylvania set the whole outfit by the ears.

For one thing, it's the first bad break in the Coolidge luck.

Everybody knows the administration was pro-Pepper for all it was worth. And he got licked. A kick in the pants for a Republican administration from the most Republican of all Republican states.

If President Coolidge can't control Pennsylvania, what state can he control?

There's nothing sure about luck except that it's bound to change, the gamblers say. Has Cal's? He's had a phenomenal run of the damdest kind. If it's turned, he's liable to be due for a run in the opposite direction that'll last him a long time.

It's no secret that President Coolidge never has been popular with the Republican Congressional Old Guard.

The Old Guard wanted to run things and the president wanted to run them and the president has come closer to doing it than the Old Guard has. It made the Old Guard sore.

The Old Guard couldn't do anything about it, however, so long as it remained evident that the bulk of the party was more pro-Coolidge than it was pro-Old Guard—so long as the Coolidge luck stayed good. But if it really has changed—oh, my!

Dr. Robert T. Mitchell Dies.

Friends of Mrs. Robert T. Mitchell of Appleton, Wis., who will be remembered as Miss Beulah Taylor, have received word of the death of her husband, at Appleton on May 17. Dr. Mitchell's death occurred suddenly following a heart attack. Besides his widow, he is survived by three children, a son and two daughters. The Taylor family formerly lived at Graham.

GOOD HOPE

This is real farming weather although a little sprinkle of moisture would be fine. Ground not baked or hard to work, but would make the crops and garden come right along.

Everyone is almost too busy to be real polite, especially to these agents who are trying to induce people to buy for their own special benefit—if they would get out and go to work right. Some of the farmers could use some of them on the farm—but no?

There has been quite an anxious time about seed corn, but some of the men are getting a fair stand some having to plant over while Leman Morehouse got a plenty on one field and it looks like every grain came, he's plowing it this morning and it shows up fine.

So many men are plowing up sod, for corn, (we know within reach of our grape vine wire) of just about 50 or 75 acres yet to be turned over; if this does happen to be a good corn year, this part of the county will have a bumper crop.

The hay crop doesn't look very flattering, so far, some wheat fields also oats look good while some are not so good.

Mr. and Mrs. Charlie Taylor entertained a surprise party last Sunday in honor of Mrs. Taylor's mother, Mrs. Louisa Hinton, from Pickering, the occasion being her 78th birthday. The party was composed of Mrs. Hinton's children and grandchildren, and everyone enjoyed the affair immensely. A basket dinner prepared by the daughters and granddaughters all spread on a table in the grove where it was served with much comfort and merriment.

S. G. Massie, whose funeral was held in Maryville last Sunday P. M. lived in our community a long time previous to his moving to Maryville. He had many friends in the neighborhood, and a large crowd of them were present at the services. The family has the sympathy of our community.

Mr. and Mrs. Emmett Miller, Hannibal, Mo., are the proud parents of a daughter born last Saturday.

Mr. and Mrs. Joe Clymens accompanied by Gene, Joe's father, visited Ernest Clymens and wife in Tarkio last Sunday.

John Morehouse would like to have all of those who are interested in the Children's Day services to be held at Good Hope the second Sunday in June to be at Sunday School next Sunday at 10 o'clock sharp to complete the arrangements. A committee is at work preparing some exercises for the children, but many will want to go to the Memorial Services Sunday, P. M. and being on time our plans can be made and met.

John Morehouse shipped out through the Farmers' Union 25 head of fall shoats that averaged 237 pounds.

Henry Holker and daughter, Lavon, went to Clarinda to take Henry's grandfather, Alex Coleman to visit another daughter and family, Mr. and Mrs. Will Johnson. Mr. Coleman had been visiting his daughter, Mrs. Joe Holker and Mr. Holker, last week.

Mrs. Ritchey Ulmer from Hopkins has been visiting her son, G. B. Ulmer and family since last week.

Leman Morehouse and wife visited their son, Anday Morehouse and family, last Sunday, who live southeast of Hopkins. Sunday evening they called on a nephew, Merl Cox and family.

Mr. and Mrs. Harry Jones and family visited homefolks, Earl Dowling's Sunday.

WHITE CLOUD

Several from this vicinity attended the funeral of Mr. Massie in Maryville Sunday afternoon. Those attending were Mrs. John Ringold, Mr. and Mrs. Vern Fakes, Mr. and Mrs. Lester Ringold, Mr. and Mrs. Ol Coleman, Mr. and Mrs. Ase Ringold and family, Mr. and Mrs. Sherm Scott and Mr. and Mrs. Ira Ringold.

Joe Ulmer is away on a trip to California going on the excursion that went from Shenandoah.

Ol Coleman shipped a car load of hogs Monday. Tuesday morning, he, accompanied by his wife, Miss Pauline Ringold, Miss Olive Boyd and Nick Thull motored to St. Joseph.

Paul Thull returned from Bethany Tuesday where he had been working with a paving company. He is now at work on the road between Pickering and Maryville.

Mr. and Mrs. Ol Coleman and Miss Pauline Ringold attended the baccalaureate services at the State Teachers College in Maryville Sunday morning.

Miss Verda Ulmer of Hopkins was a guest at the home of her brother Galen a few days last week.

Ten Commandments Need Rewriting, Asserts Leader of Jewish Thought

New York, May 26.—Does the decalogue need doing over?

Dr. Felix Adler, founder of the Ethical Culture Society, thinks so.

His observations of life tell him that the old commands, not being of modern cut, do not fit present-day needs; that the Sermon on the Mount is disregarded in the market places; that in business "cheek" takes the place of turning the other cheek.

Upon the occasion of celebrating the society's fiftieth anniversary Dr. Adler expressed these views. When asked: "What do you think about the single commandment to love God first and then your neighbor as yourself?" he replied:

"I like that, but I would put it this way: Learn to see the divine in your fellow man and your eyes will be opened to the divine in the universe."

Three Still Needed.

Still necessary are the commandments to filial respect, and those against killing and marital infidelity. Dr. Adler continues:

"As for the belief that it is good to turn the other cheek. I say 'Assert yourself—so far as it is necessary to redeem the other from selfishness.

"We hear that people are no longer frightened by words. For instance the word that describes martial infidelity. Do phrases no longer deter people from crime? we ask ourselves.

"People are no longer afraid of the word because they are no longer afraid of the thing. But they should have a sense of the sublime beauty of the function of procreation so that they will not suffer it to be tainted at its source.

"In case of 'honor thy father and thy mother' we should have reverence for that which is to be revered, for the relationship—so far as parents realize it—and one should always be expectant of their ability to realize it.

"I knew a woman who was married to a drunkard and it was difficult to rear her children without disrespect to to their father. But she managed to make them expectant that he would live up to their respect for him. And he finally did."

Since the Mahomet of modern life will not go to the mountain of old commandments, the ancient laws themselves must move toward the man of today. Dr. Adler was questioned:

"Is it not true that the modern competitive spirit upsets people and leads them into transgressions?"

"Yes—but we do not need to be stabilized but steadied," he replied.

The Spiritual View.

"The spiritual view of life does that for us."

"Do the many so-called 'mixed' marriages of today lead to dissatisfaction and eventual breaking of a commandment?"

"I believe in marriage as a fundamental agreement as to an outlook upon life. That makes for felicity.

"I do not believe in mixed marriages.

"Because if a Jew is an intense Jew and the Christian is a believing Christian, they must indeed be noble not to be shipwrecked. If one is just a Jew in the sense that he is born a Jew and the other a Christian because brought up that way, the difference is not decisive."

How Could Any Money Last Long Time Then?

Bills Don't Stretch Very Far Now But They Are Planning On Making Them Still Shorter.

BY CHARLES P. STEWART
NEA Service Writer.

Washington—You'll hardly know whether it is money or a merchandise coupon after the treasury's committee on redesign of the currency gets through.

Their plans for revamped paper money are expected to save about $4,000,000 a year and to provide much handier currency. Their problem is to take care of the paper money and let the coins take care of themselves.

The proposals, in brief are to reduce the size of bills by about one-third, to eliminate the yellowbacks and make other color changes, to simplify and standardize design and to stop printing some of the little-used denominations. These proposals are not yet official. They are revealed now directly from the committee, however, and are believed to be virtually assured of adoption.

Secretary of the Treasury Mellon has authority to make such changes in the currency without consulting Congress. The committee on redesign has been making exhaustive studies for nearly a year and is expected to report within a few months. After the secretary orders the changes, nearly a year will be required for engraving the plates and for printing and distribution.

"The department is convinced that our present paper money system can be made more economical and efficient and is committed to improving it," says Assistant Secretary Charles S. Dewey. He is the official directly in charge of the expert committee on redesign.

The change in size is expected to be most radical. Ever since the first greenbacks were turned out during the Civil War paper money has been approximately 7.28 inches long and 3.04 inches wide. The new bills, it is planned, will be 6 inches long and 2½ inches wide.
